

Privacy Policy of the 10th Beijing Xiangshan Forum

I. Collect and Use User's Personal Information

(I) Situations and Types of Personal Information We Collect

1. Registration

While you register an online account, we will collect your necessary personal information, including basic personal information (e.g. name, contact information, and email address), and personal identity information (e.g. ID card number, and passport number). After becoming a user of the Platform, you can contact us through the contact information provided in [XII. Contact Us] to modify your personal information, like name, nationality, date of birth, contact information, gender and email address.

2. Information Caused by Using Platform Functions and Services

(1) Information You Provide to Us

When you use functions or services, you can contact us through the contact information provided in [XII. Contact Us] to give feedback on the problems of your experience in the functions or services of the Platform. This may help us better understand your experience in and demand for the use of our functions or services and improve our functions or services.

(2) Information We Collect During Your Use of Functions and Services

To provide you with intelligent hardware or software and page display and result search functions that better satisfy your needs, aid you in understanding platform adaptability and identify abnormal account status, we may automatically collect and save your platform access traces, web browsing history and other personal information, including but not limited to:

Device information: Based on specific permissions you grant during software installation and use, we will receive and record information related to the device you use (e.g. device type, platform name, device identification number, system version, device manufacturer, hardware serial number, the device's public network IP, IMEI serial number, operator name, cell phone number, mobile country code and mobile network code, browser UA, physical address of network card, operating system version and type, CPU type and hostname) and information related to the position of your device (e.g. IP address, GPS/BeiDou location information, and sensor information that can provide such relevant information, like Wi-Fi access points, Bluetooth and base station).

Log information: When you use the functions or services provided by our website or client, we will automatically collect details of your use of services and save them as a web log. Such information may include your search results, IP address, browser type, telecoms operator, the language used, access date and time, web browsing history and call status information.

Please note that device information, log information, and the keywords searched out alone cannot be used to identify the information of a specific natural person. If we combine such non-personal information with other information for the purpose of identifying a particular natural person or use it in conjunction with personal information, such non-personal information will be considered personal information during the period of the combination. Unless authorized by you or otherwise stipulated by laws and regulations, we will anonymize and de-identify this kind of personal information.

When you contact us, your necessary personal information for the purpose of verifying your identity is required to ensure the security of your account. To facilitate contact with you, help you solve your problems as soon as possible or record the relevant problem treatment plan and results, we may keep the communication/call records and contents between us (e.g. account information, other information you provide to prove relevant facts, or contact information your leave, like telephone number and email address).

(3) Information We Collect During Your Use of Personalized Recommendation Services

We may collect information about your use of services to provide you with better and more personalized services (e.g. more personalized and consistent services on different servers or devices), offer input recommendations, customer service reception or information push that better fits your needs, help you understand platform adaptability, and identify abnormal account status. Such information includes device information, logs, and service usage information.

Log information: When you use the functions and services provided by our website or client, we will automatically collect details of your use of functions and services and save them as a web log. Such information may include your IP address, browser type, telecoms operator, the language used, access date and time, access duration, characteristics of software and hardware, web browsing history, and cookies of the Platform's functions or services.

Service usage information: We will record the information and setting information (e.g. remembering the password and changing the password and time) you submit or generate when using the functions or services of the Platform.

(4) Location Information (e.g. Accurate Positioning Information)

It refers to information about your location we collect when you enable the device positioning function and use our position-based services, e.g. the geographical location information collected via GPS or WiFi when you use our services through a mobile device with a positioning function.

(5) Other Additional Services

Persons who have various needs during COP14 can consult us on the Platform through instant messaging and comments. If you want to use this function, according to the requirements of real-name system management, you may need to provide your real name, personal identity information (e.g. ID card number, and passport number) and contact information for us to carry out real-name authentication.

If you choose not to provide such personal information for the above additional services, you can still use other functions normally.

(II) Our Use of Your Personal Information

- (1) When we provide services, we may use your information for identity authentication, customer services, security precautions, fraud monitoring, archiving and backup purposes to ensure the security of the products and services provided by us to you.
- (2) We may use your information to help us design new services and improve our existing services through information data analysis.
- (3) We may use your information to give us a better understanding of how you use our services to respond specifically to your individual needs, such as language settings, location settings, personalized help services and instructions, or to respond to you and other users of our services in other ways.
- (4) We may use your information to assess and improve the effectiveness of advertising and other promotional activities in our services.
- (5) We may use your information to update our software certification or management software.
- (6) After collecting your personal information, we will de-identify your data through technical means, and the de-identified information will not be able to identify the subject. Please understand and agree that in this case, we have the right to use the de-identified information; and on the premise of complying with relevant laws and regulations, we have the right to conduct integrated analysis and utilization of the user database, including your personal information.

- (7) We will seek your prior consent when we use your information for other purposes not specified in this Policy.

(III) Permissions on Mobile Terminals

1. Permission Scope of Mobile Terminals

- (1) To ensure the security and legality of your mobile terminals, the authenticity of your login identity and the security of your account, we need to collect the following basic information about your terminal devices: MAC address, unique terminal identification code, SIM card information, IMSI information, IMEI information, terminal version and model, network IP, device number, network type, and mobile phone brand information.
- (2) To ensure the normal operation of your mobile terminals, the normal loading of the H5 page and the normal display of the pages and functions you are requesting, we need you to authorize the mobile terminals to receive the picture/multimedia contents on your terminal devices and obtain the terminals' storage function.
- (3) If you need to use your mobile terminals' intelligent voice translation and intelligent voice assistant functions, you shall authorize the mobile terminals to obtain the microphone permission on your terminal devices. Otherwise, you cannot use the corresponding functional services.
- (4) If you need to use the positioning and navigation function, you shall authorize your mobile terminals to obtain the location information permission on your terminal devices. Otherwise, you cannot use the corresponding service.

- (5) If you need to use the public WiFi in a venue, you shall authorize your mobile terminals to obtain mobile network information and WiFi connection information on your terminal devices, and change the terminals' network connection status permission. Otherwise, you cannot use the corresponding functional service.
- (6) If you need to contact the official hotline of COP14, or call relevant persons when you find suitable supply and demand information, you shall authorize your mobile terminals to obtain the permissions to read and write the address book and make phone calls on your terminal devices; if you need to contact someone by email, you shall authorize the mobile terminals to obtain the permissions to read the application list and activate email-related applications on your terminal devices; if you need to contact someone by SMS or MMS, you shall authorize the permission to read and write SMS/MMS on your terminal devices. Otherwise, you cannot directly use the corresponding functional services.

You can also get in touch with contact persons by entering or pasting their contact information you write down or copy into an external application.

- (7) If you need to update or upgrade your mobile terminals through their built-in update and upgrade function, you need to authorize the mobile terminals to obtain the permissions to install files and read the application list. Otherwise, you cannot use the corresponding function.
- (8) To help you better understand the latest information about COP14, we may push relevant information to you through mobile terminals.

You can view and cancel the above authorization information on the terminal devices.

2. On the premise of complying with national laws, regulations and policies, the Platform may collect relevant information from you to ensure service quality.

To ensure the security, availability and stability of our services and help us better understand the operation of your mobile terminals, we may record and read relevant information, e.g. the frequency of your usage, crash logs information, overall usage, performance data and source of the application.

(IV) Exceptions with Consent

In accordance with the law, we do not need your authorization and content to collect and use your personal information in the following situations, and we may not respond to your request for correction/modification, deletion, cancellation, withdrawal of consent or request for information:

- (1) Related to national security and national defense security;
- (2) Related to public safety, public health and major public interests;
- (3) Related to judicial or administrative enforcement, such as criminal investigation, prosecution, trial, and execution of judgments;
- (4) It is difficult to get your consent in order to protect the life, property and other important legitimate rights and interests of the subject of personal information or other individuals;
- (5) The personal information collected is disclosed by you to the public;
- (6) Collection of personal information from legally disclosed information, such as legal news reports, government information disclosure and other channels;
- (7) Necessary for the execution and performance of relevant agreements or other written documents with you;
- (8) Those necessary to maintain the safe and stable operation of the products or services provided, such as finding and dealing with faults of the products or services;

- (9) Necessary for legitimate news reporting;
- (10) When it is necessary for an academic research institution to carry out statistics or academic research based on the public interest, and the results of academic research or description are provided to the outside, the personal information contained in the results is de-identified;
- (11) Other circumstances stipulated by laws and regulations.

Please note that by agreeing to our use of the above information and permissions, you are authorizing us to collect and use such personal information. By disabling these permissions, you are canceling such authorization, and in this case, we will no longer collect and use your personal information, nor will we be able to provide you with the relevant functions corresponding to such authorization. Your decision to disable the authorization will not affect the previous processing of personal information based on your authorization.

Please be assured that, except for the above exceptions, the personal information we collect and use is obtained through legal channels upon your authorization. We will not indirectly obtain your personal information from any illegal channels.

II. Use Cookies and Similar Technologies

To let you get a better access experience and recommend content that you may be interested in, we will use Cookies and similar technologies such as pixel tags/beacons and scripts (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Cookies"). By using Cookies, we can store the information about visits and visitors, and provide you with better and more services by analyzing data. If you click "Agree" when the Cookie notification is displayed to you, it means that you agree to accept our use of Cookies to provide you with services.

You can modify your acceptance of Cookies or reject our Cookies, but if you do this, you may not be able to use Cookies-dependent services or functions in some cases.

III. Entrust Third Parties to Process, Share, Transfer, or Publicly Disclose Users' Personal Information

(I) Processing by Entrusting Third Parties

Some of our modules or functions may be provided by external service providers. For example, we may hire professional data processing service agencies to provide technical support for data analysis for the Platform.

We will sign strict non-disclosure agreements with the companies, organizations, and individuals we authorize for processing personal information, so that they handle all personal information as per our requirements, privacy policy, and other confidentiality and safety measures.

(II) Sharing

To facilitate your contact and communication with other users of COP14, the personal information you fill in and submit on this website (ID card number and passport number excluded) will be shared between the supply and demand parties participating in COP14. You confirm and explicitly agree that we can share your information with certain subjects in the form set forth above. We will take appropriate technical measures for your information to ensure information security.

In addition, we will share your personal information with third parties under the following circumstances:

- (1) With your consent, we will share your personal information with third parties other than the authorized partners of COP14.
- (2) We may share your personal information in accordance with laws and regulations, the requirements of dispute resolution procedures, or the mandatory requirements of administrative and judicial organs.
- (3) We will share your personal information with our affiliates.

However, we only share it on a need-to-know basis and will be bound by the purposes stated in the Policy. If we share your sensitive personal information (e.g. your personal identity information) or our affiliates are to change the intended purposes stipulated in the Policy for which they use and process your personal information, we will seek your consent again.

- (4) We may share your personal information with the authorized partners of COP14 to ensure the smooth provision and completion of our products and/or services. However, we will only share your personal information for legitimate, justified, necessary, specific, and explicit purposes, and will only share the personal information necessary to provide our products and/or services. Our partners have no right to use the shared personal information for any other purposes.

We will sign strict confidentiality agreements with companies, organizations, and individuals with which we share personal information, and require them to process personal information in accordance with our instructions, this privacy policy, and any other relevant confidentiality and security measures.

The functions or services of the Platform contain links to other websites. Unless otherwise stipulated by law, the Platform assumes no responsibility for the privacy protection measures of other websites. We may add the websites of business partners or shared brands whenever the need arises, but the information provided to them will be comprehensive information. We will also not disclose your identity.

(III) Transfer

We will not transfer your personal information to any company, organization or individual, except under the following circumstances:

- (1) After obtaining your express consent, we will transfer your personal information to other parties.

- (2) If personal information transfer is involved in case of merger or dissolution, we will inform you of this transfer, and require the new company or organization that holds your personal information to be subject to this privacy policy. Otherwise, we will request the company or organization to re-request authorization from you.

(IV) Public Disclosure

We will disclose your personal information only in the following cases:

- (1) With your express consent.
- (2) Disclosure based on law: We may disclose your personal information in accordance with the law, legal procedure, litigation, or mandatory requirements of the competent government authorities.

IV. Protect Users' Personal Information

(I) Information Storage Location

We will store all the collected information in the territory of China in accordance with laws and regulations. However, as our platform provides the functions and services to global users, as for the personal information collected or generated when users outside the territory of the People's Republic of China are using the functions or services of the platform, the users have to agree to transfer back to and store the information on the servers within the territory of the People's Republic of China, otherwise, our platform cannot provide any services for you. In this case, we will protect your personal information with adequate measures according to this policy.

(II) Period of Information Storage

We will only keep your personal information for the period required to achieve the purpose stated in the policy, unless otherwise stipulated by laws and regulations. When the retained personal information exceeds the retention period or we stop operating services, we will delete or anonymize your personal information. If such measures cannot be taken (because, for example, your information has been stored in the backup archive), we will safely store your personal information and avoid further processing before such information can be deleted.

(III) How We Protect Your Personal Information

We attach great importance to your personal information security. To this end, we have established an information security guarantee system in strict accordance with laws and regulations such as the Cybersecurity Law of the People's Republic of China, the Baseline for Classified Protection of Cybersecurity, the Data Security Law of the People's Republic of China and the Personal Information Security Specification, and will take technical measures and other necessary measures to protect your personal information security.

- (1) We have a data security management system centered on the life cycle of data, which improves the security of the whole system from organization set-up, system design, personnel management, product technology and other aspects.
- (2) We use encryption, access control and other technologies in our platform to improve the security of personal information; use a trusted protection mechanism to prevent malicious attacks on personal information; set up an access control mechanism to prevent unauthorized access; evaluate the data security on a regular basis, and timely discover and deal with potential security risks of personal information protection. Meanwhile, we have established a security management center under which there is an information protection department and a data security emergency response organization to promote and ensure personal information security. Our measures are designed to provide you with a level of security commensurate with the risk of processing your personal information.

- (3) We will take reasonable and feasible measures to try to avoid collecting irrelevant personal information.

(IV) Handling of Security Incidents

To address possible risks such as disclosure, damage and loss of personal information, we have formulated a number of systems to clearly define the classification and grading standards for security incidents and security vulnerabilities and the corresponding processing procedures. At the same time, we have established a special emergency response team for security incidents of the platform, which will launch security plans for different security incidents according to the requirements of security incident handling standards, stop loss, conduct analysis, carry out positioning, develop remedial measures, and work with relevant departments on origin tracing and analysis.

In case of any unfortunate personal information security incidents, we will inform you within at most thirty (30) calendar days according to the requirements of laws and regulations the basic information and possible impacts of the same, the treatment measures taken or will be taken, suggestions regarding risk prevention and reduction on your own, remedial measures offered to you, etc. We will inform you of the relevant fact by mail, letter, telephone, push notifications, etc. We will take a reasonable and effective way to publish the announcement if it is difficult to inform the personal users one by one.

Meanwhile, we will also report the disposal of the incident according to the requirements of the regulatory authorities.

Although there is no 100% secure network transmission or electronic storage method, which makes it impossible for us to guarantee the absolute security of personal information, we will take appropriate technical and organizational safeguard measures to protect your information from theft, loss, abuse and any unauthorized access, copy, collection, use, disclosure, change or damage.

Please use a relatively complex password to assist us in ensuring the security of your account.

If you have any questions about personal information protection, please contact us through the contact information agreed upon in this privacy policy. If you find your personal information (especially your account and password) leaked, please contact us immediately through the contact information agreed in [XII. Contact Us] of this privacy policy, so that we can take corresponding measures.

V. User Rights

(I) Access Your Personal Information

You have the right to log in to your account at any time and access your personal information by yourself, unless otherwise stipulated by laws and regulations.

You can also exercise this right by contacting us through the contact information provided in [XII. Contact Us].

(II) Correct Your Personal Information

You are entitled to request us to make corrections if you find any of your personal information processed by us is wrong.

You can also exercise this right by contacting us through the contact information provided in [XII. Contact Us].

(III) Change the Scope of Your Authorization or Revoke Your Authorization

Within the scope of your authorization to us to collect and process your personal information, you can change the scope of your authorization or revoke your authorization by changing settings, etc.

We will push information about the meeting and relevant service information to your smart terminal devices by algorithms, but you have the right to unsubscribe at any time. You can unsubscribe by changing the settings on your smart terminal devices. You can also exercise this right by contacting us through the contact information provided in [XII. Contact Us].

Please understand that some basic personal information is required to enable each business function, and that when you cancel your consent or authorization, we cannot continue to provide you with the service for which you cancel your consent or authorization, and will no longer process the corresponding information. However, your decision to withdraw your consent or authorization does not affect the previous information processing based on your authorization.

(IV) Constraint on Automatic Decision-making by Information System

For some business functions, we may make decisions based solely on non-manual automatic decision-making mechanisms such as information systems and algorithms. If these decisions significantly affect your legitimate rights and interests, you have the right to ask us for an explanation. We will also provide complaint methods on the premise of not infringing on the business secrets or other user rights and interests and the public interest.

(V) Response to Your Above Requests

To ensure security, you may need to provide a written request or prove your identity in other ways. We may ask you to verify your identity before processing your request.

We will reply to your request within thirty (30) days, unless otherwise stipulated in this policy. If you are not satisfied or have any questions, you can contact us through the contact information provided in [XII. Contact Us].

For your reasonable request, we will arrange special service personnel to contact you. However, we have the right to reject the requests that repeatedly occur without justified reason, require too many technical measures (for example, it is required to develop new systems or fundamentally change the existing practices), pose risks to the legitimate rights and interests of others, or are very impractical (for example, involving information stored on back-up tapes).

We will not be able to respond to your request according to relevant laws and regulations in case of the following circumstances:

- (1) Directly related to national security and national defense security;
- (2) Directly related to public safety, public health and vital public interests;
- (3) Directly related to crime investigation, prosecution, trial and execution of the judgment, etc.;
- (4) Proofed by sufficient evidence that you have subjective malice or abuse of rights;
- (5) Seriously prejudicial to your, other individuals' or organizations' legitimate rights and interests if your request is responded to;
- (6) Related to business secrets.

VI. Statistics of Online Information

To help users better experience the services of the platform and facilitate subsequent research, we may automatically collect and save such personal information as users' platform access traces, and web browsing history, including but not limited to: online identity information (e.g., system account, address, email address, and related passwords); internet access history (e.g., number of visits, visited pages, access time, and access duration); personal device information (e.g., device name, device model, device MAC address, unique device identifier, software list, operating system, app version, and language settings); location information (e.g., accurate positioning information).

Please note that the information about your searched keywords cannot separately identify your identity and is not your personal information. We have the right to use it for any purpose. Only when the information about your searched keywords is used in combination with other information and your identity can be identified, we will regard such information as your personal information during the combined use, and will treat and protect it together with your search history in accordance with this policy.

VII. Process Children's Personal Information

The functions and services of our platform are mainly for adults. The minors are not allowed to create their own user accounts without the consent of their guardians.

We will not take the initiative to collect personal information from minors directly. For the collection of personal information of children with the consent of their guardians, we will use or publicly disclose the same only when permitted by law, agreed by guardians or when it is necessary for the protection of children.

Although the laws and customs of different countries define minors differently, we deem anyone under the age of 14 as a minor.

If we find that we have collected the personal information of children without the prior consent of the authenticated guardians, we will delete the relevant data as soon as possible.

VIII. Information Collection from a Third Party

We may collect your personal information indirectly from a third party, which only happens under the circumstance when we confirm that the third party has obtained your authorization and consent for sharing relevant data with us, or when the third party is permitted or required to disclose your personal information to us according to law.

The circumstances under which we may obtain your personal information from a third party mainly include:

- (1) Personal information of participants, contacts or other representatives and individual audiences provided by a third party, including personal internet access history (e.g., browsing and internet use history), personal identity information (e.g., names and contact information); provided by a third party, including personal basic information (e.g., nationality), and personal internet access history (e.g., browsing history).
- (2) Personal information of participants, contacts or other representatives and individual audiences who watch the live streaming of the meeting

We will ask the third party to make a commitment to the legality and compliance of personal information sources. In case of any illegal acts by the third party, we will explicitly ask the other party to bear corresponding legal responsibilities. We will understand the scope of authorization and consent of personal information processing obtained by the third party, including the purpose of use, whether the subject of personal information authorizes the transfer, sharing, public disclosure, deletion, etc. The personal information obtained from the third party will be used to provide services for you and to ensure the accuracy of your relevant records we have. If our processing activities of personal information exceed the authorized consent obtained by the third party, we will obtain your express consent, directly or through the third party providing the information, within a reasonable period of time when obtaining the personal information or before processing the personal information.

For the avoidance of ambiguity, the above situations do not correspond to the types of personal information we collect. Personal information collected in one of the above situations may also be collected in other situations mentioned above.

IX. Legal Statement

(I) Ownership

The symbols, logos, texts and graphics of the platform and the combination thereof, as well as other symbols, logos, service names, etc. of the platform, are exclusive logos of the COP14 in China and other countries. Without our written authorization, no one is allowed to display, use or otherwise process (including but not limited to reproduce, spread, display, mirror, upload and download) such logos, or show others that you have the right to display, use or otherwise process the same.

The intellectual property rights of all the products, services, and technologies of the platform and all apps or the components/functions thereof (hereinafter referred to as “technical services”) shall be owned by the platform or the right holder thereof. Unless otherwise stated, the platform has all rights (including but not limited to copyrights, trademark rights, patent rights, business secrets and all other related rights) to publish documents and other information (including but not limited to texts, graphics, pictures, photographs, audios, videos, icons, colors, layout designs and electronic documents) on its website. Without our permission, no one is allowed to use the above contents (including but not limited to monitoring, reproducing, rebroadcasting, displaying, mirroring, uploading or downloading any content published on the platform with any program or equipment). Anyone who is authorized to browse, reproduce, print and spread the functions and service information of the platform shall not use such content for any commercial purposes and must indicate the source thereof and declare that the right thereto vests in us.

(II) Limitation of Liability

The information (including but not limited to personal information, user name, company name, contact person and contact information, relevant pictures, news, etc.) uploaded, provided or published by the user of the platform shall be provided by such user on his/her own and subject to all liabilities according to law.

The platform hereby reminds you that during your use of the functions and services of the platform, you shall abide by the laws of the People's Republic of China, and may not endanger network security or use the functions and services of the platform to infringe others' reputation, privacy, intellectual property rights and other legitimate rights and interests. Notwithstanding the aforesaid, the platform does not assume any liability for the purpose of your use of the functions and services provided by the platform. If you commit any illegal use, we have the right to suspend your account and report the incident to relevant departments according to law.

(III) Intellectual Property Protection

We respect intellectual property rights, and oppose and combat any infringement thereof. Any organization or individual who believes that the functions and services provided by the platform may infringe their legitimate rights and interests may submit a written Notice of Infringement to the platform along with legal and valid supporting materials through the contact information provided in [XII. Contact Us]. We will, upon our receipt of the written notice and the legal and valid supporting materials from the intellectual property right owner, deal with such issues as soon as possible according to law.

(IV) Disclaimer

The platform shall not be liable for any legal, service, information, technical and other risks caused by force majeure, network reasons, third-party service defects, third-party websites and other reasons.

When using the apps, software or services provided by third parties, in addition to complying with the rules of the platform, it may also be necessary to agree to and comply with the agreements or rules of third parties. The platform shall not be liable to any third party.

(V) Applicable Laws and Dispute Resolution

This policy shall be governed by and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the People's Republic of China. Any dispute, claim or cause of action arising from this policy or the use of the platform, including any dispute related to the existence or validity of this policy, shall be settled by both parties through negotiation. If the negotiation fails, a lawsuit may be filed at the local people's court where the meeting is held according to law.

If any provision of this policy is held to be invalid or unenforceable, such invalidity or unenforceability shall not affect the validity of the other provisions, and the remaining provisions shall remain valid and enforceable.

X. Transfer of Information Globally

In principle, the personal information collected and generated during our operations within the People's Republic of China will be stored in its territory. However, as our system platform provides the functions and services to global users, as for the personal information collected or generated when users outside the territory of the People's Republic of China are using the functions or services of the platform, the users have to agree to transfer back to and store on the servers within the territory of the People's Republic of China, otherwise, the current functions or services of the platform may not be used normally. In this case, we will protect your personal information with adequate measures according to this policy.

XI. Update the Policy

We may update the policy in good time to adapt to the development of law, technology or commerce. However, without your explicit consent, we will not reduce the rights you are entitled to under the policy. We will publish the latest version of the privacy policy on this page, and you can view the latest update time of the policy at the "Latest Update Date" at the top of the policy.

If we make significant changes to the policy, we will notify you in an appropriate way. After the change of the policy, your continued use of our services means that you have fully read, understood and are willing to be bound by the revised privacy policy. Such changes to the privacy policy will apply from the effective date specified in the push notification. If you disagree with the updated privacy policy, you should stop visiting and/or using the platform.

Significant changes referred to in the policy include, but are not limited to:

1. Significant changes to our service mode, such as the purpose of processing personal information, the type of personal information processed, and the manner to use personal information;
2. Significant changes to our ownership structure and organizational structure, etc.; such as changes of ownership caused by business

- adjustments or other reasons;
3. Changes to main objects which the personal information is shared with, transferred to or publicly disclosed to;
 4. Significant changes to your right to participate in the processing of personal information as well as the mode of exercising that right;
 5. Changes to the department that is responsible for the personal information security, its contact information, and the complaint channel;
 6. The impact assessment report on personal information security indicates a high risk.

XII. Contact Us

If you have any questions, opinions or suggestions about this privacy policy, please contact us at +8610 62877209.

If you are not satisfied with our reply, or you think that our ways to process personal information have damaged your legitimate rights and interests, you can negotiate with us. If negotiation fails, you can and agree to submit the relevant disputes to the people's court with jurisdiction where we are located and apply the laws of the People's Republic of China (excluding Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan).